

To Whom it May Concern,

I would like to attend the 2020 Dynamic Risk Partners' Conference held virtually on Thursday, November 5th.

The conference hosts energy professionals across the Transmission/Midstream, Upstream and Distribution sectors, from both Canada and the United States. The full day event agenda will focus on subjects that are very relevant to my key job accountabilities, as well as regulatory and industry updates. The event hosts a variety of guest speakers with representatives from peer organizations and I will also learn about Dynamic Risk's corporate, product, and services updates. There is no cost to attend the conference beyond my time to attend the virtual on-line presentations.

I am confident you will see this as a worthwhile investment. It is an opportunity for me to attend valuable educational sessions showcasing proven case studies, gain specific knowledge and updates on industry and regulations, as well as network with my peers. For additional details, please visit www.DynamicRisk.net/events

Sincerely,

Date
